Michael Kennaugh
Black Bird
June 1 – July 10, 2021

Moody Gallery is pleased to present an exhibition of new work by Michael Kennaugh. Black Bird, on view June 1 – July 10, 2021, marks Kennaugh's ninth solo exhibition at the gallery since 2002. The exhibition features a new series of oil paintings and sculptures, both free standing and wall dependent.

Of this new series, the artist states, "In a year's time, the world has turned upside down. How we defined our lives a year ago has been forever changed with this new "normal". Not knowing how or when we would emerge from this pandemic, influenced me in making these works.

From the experience of losing loved ones, I felt a need to employ a darker palette to explore how color and space might develop. I also wanted to get the image out in a more immediate way, simpler and bolder. All the while paying attention to a stark silhouette which would aid in the development of a negative space which took equal importance.

Birds have long held a fascination for me, earthbound and at the same time, able to take flight. The black bird, a transformative creature, is a symbol of mystery, change and death, also long held as a messenger."
